

Agricultural Competitiveness White Paper – Submission IP21-02

Leon Clothier

Submitted 18 December 2013 via website's contact form

Additional to my submission I believe Biosecurity Australia should be paying for the cost of NLIS ear tags & bolus's for primary producers. It is just another input cost which farmers don't need in order to compete with our overseas farmers.

I suggest minister Joyce puts up some money for a competition for singers to come up with a Pro Farmer Aussie Country song to help give some cred to the root importance of our farmers...This has been done in America already...ref Willy Nelson...Suggest new song category at Tamworth Country Music Festival or Gympie Country Music 2015.